

SENIOR MANAGEMENT AND EXECUTIVE RESUME WRITING

When you've reached the top of your profession, more than ever, your CV needs to stand out, perform and get noticed.

We practice what we preach. We have extensive experience in Executive and Search Recruitment having worked campaigns for multinational corporations seeking Senior Executive Team positions, including C and V-level.

This hands-on experience has highlighted that Senior Management and Executive resumes are far too often poorly positioned and didn't capture the readers' interest. With so much experience and skillsets to try and highlight, it's understandable just why resume writing at this level can be the most challenging to keep concise yet thorough and impactful.

These days, a Board expects to see much more from a resume; uniquely multi-skilled, value-add and talented business professionals are skills sets now officially on the expectation list.

We have partnered with many organizations to understand their recruitment processes and discover exactly what they look for in applications at this level. Over the years, we have created a formula to enhance key competencies and highlight experience involving strategy, leadership and vision with a focus on positive contribution and outcome for our professionals. Our clean, clear and precise approach to a very competitive area of the market has allowed our professionals to emerge as premiere candidates across their desired positions.

Our Executive Team has experience writing for Executives and key team members including, but not limited to, the following roles:
